Granite City Steel's parent company, National Steel Corp., announced Wednesday it will relocate its headquarters from Pittsburgh to Mishawaka, Ind., next year.

The relocation will coincide with a restructuring program designed to streamline the firm's corporate and divisional staff functions.

Bob Maxwell, public relations manager at the Granite City Division, said the announcement has not sparked any major concern here.

"There is always concern any time there is a change," Maxwell said. "But the efficiency of company operations is being studied... I think all business is trying to operate more efficiently. We'll see what happens before getting too concerned."

Ron Doerr, president and chief operating officer of National Steel, said the company is now completing a study of its corporate and divisional staffing operations and requirements.

The study will determine which staffing functions could best be centralized to avoid duplication and which are best handled on a decentralized basis. The results of the study and the costs involved will be finalized in January, Doerr said.

Regarding the planned relocation, Kokichi Hagiwara, chairman and chief executive officer of National Steel, said the action will place the firm's headquarters closer to its three mills and closer to its customer base, nearly half of which is in Indiana, Illinois or Ohio.

Drug dealer claims he benefits area

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

Everyone knows who the drug dealers are in southwestern Madison County, according to people who live there.

Many residents say drug dealers in the area, where the police jurisdiction is divided among the Madison County sheriff and the Madison and Venice police departments, are not afraid to operate out in the open, even during the day.

So they were not surprised to hear that a self-professed drug dealer had boasted of being a community leader to a newspaper reporter.

"I've done more for this community than all these do-gooders put together," the drug dealer said, listing a number of churches, community organizations, charities and people he said he had given money. "All they (the do-gooders) do is talk."

Silver Franklin, a businessman and a Venice alderman, said he guessed he was one of those "do-gooders." Franklin said the drug dealer is obviously wrong: "Nothing good can come out of selling drugs."

"You can't put drugs and the community good in the same world," he said, as thinking you can help someone by giving them two left shoes.

"But it's not me job to go catch drug dealers. It's not my job, and it's not the residents' job."

Pam Wilson, a Venice resident and an outspoken opponent of drug dealers, said the dealers' activities are well known. But she said, the local police department is not capable of handling it.

"We've asked for help again and again, but we just don't get it," Wilson said.

But, Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine had drug dealers on the corner outside his house in Alton every night, don't you think he'd do something about it? Why is my house different?"

Children must be taught values

"There is no denying that drug dealers make a lot of money and there is no denying that kids know that," said Venice businessman Silver Franklin.

"It is important that we show our children that there are other alternatives, that you can work hard and be honest and still get the things you want."

Children tend to see the glamour of the illegal drug trade and, because they are children, tend to block out its destructiveness, said Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine.

He said it is important that churches, schools, police departments and other institutions work together to win the hearts of children.

"Society's hope is always in its youth. Our hope right now is that young people will reject the values of the drug culture and keep the values of home, family, community and church," Haine said.

Haine said he believes that one of the best hopes for the future is the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program that puts a police officer into the elementary schools to teach children to reject drugs. "My favorite part of the program is that it lets little children see a police officer as a good role model," Haine said.

"Every day, week after week, that officer is developing a relationship with these children that is as important as the DARE message itself."

We live in a society of anti-heroes, Haine said, where both bad guys and good guys are seen, at best, as survivors. The DARE program gives children a good guy to use as a hero.

"As they get older, the children may forget everything that DARE said, but they will remember that police officer as a friend, much like we remember a favorite grade school teacher we looked up to even though we don't remember anything the teacher specifically told us," Haine said.

Franklin said no matter how well children are raised, there is no guarantee they will live a "straight and narrow" life.

"But if they have been taught well, they will never forget, even if they have gone astray," Franklin said. "And if they want to come back, they will know the way."

supply and hopefully put a damper on demand.

"But all law enforcement can really do is try to keep the drug problem in a holding pattern until society as a whole changes and the demand ends."

Jim Baker, president of the Venice Board of Police Commissioners, said that, even if the number of police officers in the area were doubled, he doubts it would do much good.

"They might be a little less open and maybe some of them would move on to other places, but I doubt it would change (see DRUG DEALER, Page 6A)

Survivor remembers Pearl Harbor on 50th anniversary

How can we ever forget what happened on that Sunday morning, Dec. 7, 1941?

The horrors of that Day of Infamy were almost forgotten. We are dedicated to the memory of Pearl Harbor and to those gallant Americans who gave their lives for their country on that day.

I have written many accounts of the action that took place during the devastating attack, by hundreds of Japanese aircraft, that took the lives of 2,300 young Americans. This article will dwell primarily on the remembrance of Pearl Harbor and the young men who died on that Sunday morning.

During the attack, I was stationed on the battleship gun deck of the battleship Tennessee. Our ship was moored in the very center of what was known as "Battleship Row." From this vantage point on the upper gun deck, I witnessed the devastation of the ships at Pearl Harbor.

The guns of the Tennessee were the first to commence firing, and my duties as a gun captain during the attack kept me and my gun crew busy. But between targets I witnessed the bombers as they dropped their 1,600-pound bombs dead center on the ships in "Battleship Row."

The sinking of the battleships West Virginia and Oklahoma and the explosion that rocked the Arizona when the big bombs detonated her magazines were unbelievable. The battleships Tennessee, Maryland, California and Nevada were all heavily damaged.

The dead and dying were everywhere. The burning harbor was devouring hundreds of sailors blown into the water.

Div of our bombers were everywhere. I saw the torpedo planes making their runs and their torpedoes slamming into the harbor side of "Battleship Row."

Yes, I remember Pearl Harbor and my shipmates who perished on that Sunday 50 years ago. How could I ever forget a tragedy of this magnitude? It's like spending three hours in Hell and surviving.

I feel sure that those of us who survived count our blessings every day.

There are many things we should remember about Pearl Harbor. It has often been referred to as the watershed event of the 20th century.

It marked the entry of the United States into World War II, and the events that followed

Clifton Blankenship

This article is by former Granite City resident, Clifton E. Blankenship, a survivor of the Pearl Harbor attack 50 years ago. He was in the U.S. Navy from 1937 until 1945, serving as a chief petty officer.

In 1979, he retired as safety, training and personnel director at A.O. Smith Corp. in Granite City. He was with A.O. Smith from 1951 until his retirement. Blankenship was active in the Boy Scouts, Bubblemasters, Scuba Diving Club, Granite City Civil Defense, Granite City School District Evaluation Committee and Granite City Scholarship Foundation.

A past president of the Madison County and Quad-Cities Safety Councils, he was a member of the National Safety Council executive committee and was active with industrial management advisory groups at Southern Illinois University and the University of Illinois.

He and his wife, Mary, reside at Lanark Village near Tallahassee, Fla. A daughter, Mrs. John (Joan) Love, lives in Mitchell, and a son, Jim Blankenship, resides in Granite City. Another daughter, Mrs. Al (Terry) Janzen, makes her home in Marietta, Ga.

forced the face of the earth. It forced our country out of isolationism and made us a leader in world affairs.

Pearl Harbor is also a defining event in the coming of age of one of the most remarkable generations of people that this country has ever produced.

Most of us are now in our sixties or older and we are very proud to be Americans who are a part of this remarkable generation. We grew up in the pervasive poverty of the Depression years and, when we came home from the war, we took advantage of

Personal amplifier changes life for student

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

Gregory Katana is on the honor roll at school and he recently was accepted as a new member of the Beta Club.

The club is for students who display good academic skills. What a difference it makes when a child hears what a teacher is saying, rather than guessing at some of the words that are being said, Gregory's mother, Arlene Katana, said this week.

Not too long ago, Gregory had a deficiency failing grade at Venice Elementary School, she explained. It wasn't that he isn't smart, nor was he an inattentive student.

Gregory, 10, just couldn't hear everything that was said or being explained in the classroom as clearly as the other kids.

Thanks to the efforts of the Venice Lions Club and the Pontoon Beach Lions, Gregory's school life and class work have drastically turned around with a device called a personal FM amplifier.

Gregory also has a perfect attendance record since his school life changed for the better in the first part of October.

Ruth Welch, Gregory's fifth grade teacher, now wears a transmitter on the waistband of her clothing and a small microphone/amplifier. Gregory wears a small receiver and earpiece and only Gregory hears the teacher's voice.

"He says it's just like he is sitting right next to him," Mrs. Katana said.

"Gregory does really good with it. He hears very well and he said it doesn't matter where he sits in the classroom; he can hear everything the teacher says."

"It doesn't act embarrassed having to wear it. It's working out real well," his mother said.

"I feel like it's setting a precedent to help other children who can't hear well in school," Mrs. Katana said.

Gregory was fitted with the special hearing aid by audiologists at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The amplifier equipment worked great. Gregory could hear his teacher clearly and his grades were improving.

There was only one problem — the unit was only a loaner and had to be returned or purchased.

Greg's parents could not afford the unit so they contacted the Venice Lions Club. In turn, the Venice club contacted the Pontoon Beach Lions Club because the cost of the unit was too much for one club to handle.

The Pontoon Beach Lions and the Lionses, along with the Venice Lions, secured the fund — about $800 — and Gregory now has his own hearing unit.

Mrs. Katana expressed appreciation to the Lions clubs for helping her son.

She specifically mentioned the efforts of Ed Werner of the Pontoon Beach Lions.

Mr. Werner talked with Sheila Kutz, the head audiologist at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Somehow he got the price brought down and this machine is of the same quality as the other unit," she said.

"I think by Gregory having this equipment it is setting a precedent that could help other children who cannot hear in the classroom," Mrs. Katana said.

Not only have Gregory's grades improved, but he is a happy boy knowing he's not missing out on anything at school.

Thanks to a lot of people who cared, one young man's life probably has been changed forever.

Attack at school unfounded

An 11-year-old girl's report that she had been beaten Nov. 22 while on the playground at Mitchell School has proved unfounded, school officials report.

Mitchell Principal Ron Stern said Wednesday that an investigation indicated the girl's story was a fabrication. The original complaint was investigated by the Madison County Sheriff's Department.

According to the initial report, the girl told deputies that she had been attacked by three unknown boys who she believed to be 14 or 15 years old. She told the deputies she had been grabbed, punched in the eye and struck twice with a metal bat.

The initial report said that, while there were no visible injuries to the girl, she had been treated with ice by a school nurse. The girl's mother said she later took the girl to a doctor and the girl was treated for an inflammation in her back.

Former Granite City man shot, murder charges filed

Jefferson County, Mo., authorities were searching for a suspect Wednesday in the shooting death of a former Granite City man.

Kenneth Wayne Riddle, 41, was pronounced dead at 8 p.m. Monday at St. Anthony's Medical Center in St. Louis County, said Detective Sgt. Richard Harris of the county sheriff's department.

Riddle had been shot once in the chest with a .25-caliber pistol, Harris said. He added that the incident appears to have been motivated by jealousy over a woman.

Charges of first degree murder and armed criminal action have been filed against the suspect, Harris said.

Riddle was born in Granite City and lived here 24 years before moving to House Springs, Mo., in 1974.

Harris said the sheriff's department was contacted at 7:34 p.m. by a man who said he had found Riddle lying injured along Highway 21 near Imperial, Mo.

After investigation, however,

Police log

Warrant served on man

After a vehicle was stopped in the 3000 block of Edgewood Avenue at 12:27 a.m. Nov. 30, Lonnie Joseph Cook, 25, of Glen Carbon, a passenger in the vehicle, was found to be wanted on an Illinois State Police warrant that alleged Cook was to appear on a charge of driving while Cook's license was suspended. He was taken to local police headquarters and later was released to state authorities.

Burglar obtains knife

Joan L. Woods of the 2400 block of Adams Street told police at 11:06 p.m. Nov. 29 that her son saw a man standing at the side of his residence when he arrived home. The man then fled from the scene. He was described as 6 feet, 2 inches tall and weighing about 225 pounds.

Woods said she found a bedroom window open and the screen laying on the ground outside. A hunting knife valued at $20 was missing from the dwelling.

Wife alleges threats

Jerry R. Sedabres, 35, of the 2700 block of Marshall Avenue, was arrested at 3:53 a.m. Dec. 1 and charged with threatening his wife, Marsha Sedabres, 31, told police Jerry Sedabres, her husband, hit her and threatened to kill her.

Drunk driving charge

William D. Cotton, 23, of the 2000 block of Edwardsville Road, was arrested at 1:03 a.m. Dec. 1 and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

An officer reported observing a blue 1977 Oldsmobile Delta 88, driven by Cotton, make a wide right-hand turn onto Parkview Drive from Maryville Road.

Car stolen

Dana M. Bryan, 20, of the 700 block of Niedringhaus Avenue, told police she parked her blue 1979 Chevrolet Camaro on the street near her residence at 3:20 a.m. Dec. 1. About five minutes later, she realized she had left the keys in the car.

When she went to retrieve the keys, the car was gone, she told police.

Three charged with burglary

Two Madison men and a Tri-City Park woman were arrested last week for allegedly burglarizing two Granite City homes in November.

Russell Lee Foreshee, 28, and Matthew W. Clevenger, 18, both of the 800 block of Alton Avenue in Madison, were each charged with two counts of residential burglary.

Patricia I. Cavaness, 23, of the 1200 block of Rhodes Street in Granite City was charged with residential burglary. The charges were contained in warrants issued Monday.

Foreshee and Clevenger are alleged to have been involved in the Nov. 6 burglary of the home of Glen Lemp in the 2700 block of Denver Street and in the Nov. 28 burglary at the home of Larry Pruett in the 1200 block of Edwardsville Road.

Bond for Foreshee was set at $35,000 on each count. Clevenger was being held in lieu of $30,000 bond on each count.

Two charges filed

David Lee Paschedag, 27, of the 2300 block of State Street, was arrested at 3:18 p.m. Dec. 1 and charged with two counts of battery.

Mary Coakley, 28, of the same address, told police Paschedag, her boyfriend, pulled a handful of her hair from her head and pushed her down following an argument.

Pam Morgan, 22, told police her hair was also pulled when she attempted to help Coakley during the alleged attack.

Paschedag was lodged pending $102 bail.

Three charges filed

Michael P. Ryan, 25, of the 1200 block of Niedringhaus Avenue, was arrested at 1:34 a.m. Dec. 4 and charged with battery, disorderly conduct and resisting a peace officer.

Officers responding to the address reported hearing a woman screaming for help upon their arrival.

Rachel L. Ruetzel, 20, told police Ryan, her boyfriend, had slapped her and threw against a wall, causing her to hit her head.

Ryan is also alleged to have pushed a police officer in the chest and to have resisted when police attempted to place him in handcuffs.

Car burglarized

Ricky E. Daniels, 32, of the 1900 block of Benton Street, told police about $2,000 worth of tools and two stereos were taken from the trunk of his brown 1979 Pontiac Firebird sometime between 9 p.m. Nov. 29 and 8:45 p.m. Dec. 1.

Turns self in

Michael B. Shearlock, 17, of Devon Hill Lane, turned himself in at the Madison County Sheriff's office at 2 p.m. Dec. 2. He had been charged with two counts of burglary.

According to Capt. Kip Pomeroy, Shearlock is alleged to have been involved in the Nov. 5 burglaries of Frohardt Elementary School and First Christian Church.

Shearlock was released on $40,000 recognizance, according to a police report.

Music equipment taken

Mike L. Farmer, 31, of the 2500 block of Madison Avenue, told police a $300 guitar, three keyboards worth a total of $450, two televisions, two video cassette recorders, two cameras, $850 cash, three rings and an 18-inch gold chain were taken from his home sometime between 8 p.m. Dec. 3 and 12:51 a.m. Dec. 4.

Woman assaulted

Jason Todd Burnett, 18, of the 4100 block of Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, was arrested at 12:25 a.m. Dec. 4 and charged with battery.

Officers stopped Burnett and three other men in a gray 1983 Oldsmobile Cutlass after receiving a report of a disturbance in the International House of Pancakes restaurant just minutes earlier.

A customer at the restaurant told police Burnett threw a salt shaker at her, striking her in the chest while she was waiting for her food order.

Other witnesses gave similar accounts to police, according to a police report.

Burnett is held pending $102 cash as bail.

Choking alleged

David Lee Presswood, 33, of the 2600 block of East 24th Street, was arrested at 6 p.m. Dec. 3 and charged with battery.

Kristy Cox, 32, told police Presswood put his hands around her throat and choked her.

Presswood was lodged pending $52 cash as bail.

An Invitation To INACTIVE CATHOLICS

My Dear Brother and Sisters—

I would like to take this opportunity, during this holy and penitential season of Advent to reach as many inactive Catholics as I can. I want to personally invite you to return to the active practice of your Catholic faith.

I realize that your reasons for leaving the active practice of your faith is as varied and as numerous as there are inactive Catholics. For some, it's because you're angry with God (e.g., suffering the death of a loved one, a business failure, or seeing your dreams and hopes die, etc.). For others, it is because you feel bitter over the way you were mistreated by a priest, sister, or church official (e.g., marriage to a non-Catholic, by being divorced, or numerous remarriages, etc.). And for still others, you feel that the changes of Vatican Council II (e.g., Communion in the hand, lay ministers, Eucharistic ministers, etc.) have destroyed the integrity and heritage of the Catholic Church, the church you grew up with and loved deeply.

No matter what your personal reason(s) is for leaving the active practice of your Catholic faith there is one common denominator underlying all the above-mentioned valid reasons: An intense and deeply rooted pain. A pain so intense that if not healed it will lead to annihilation.

I understand your reasons for leaving the active practice of your Catholic faith. But, I ask that you please understand that we are an imperfect church (living in an imperfect world) and as such we are prone to make mistakes. Please take a few minutes now and seriously, prayerfully consider returning to the active practice of your Catholic faith. That is, please seek to heal that intense pain of being separated from your family, the church.

If I can be of any help or assistance; or if you have any questions or concerns, please give a call at: 1-618-931-2916 and ask for "Father Bud" DeGrand. Or write: St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, 2301 Pontoon Rd., Granite City, IL 62040.

The Board Of Education Of The Granite City School District Explains The Proposed Increase In Tax Levy

The Board of Education of the Granite City School District published its Notice of Hearing for a Proposed Property Tax Levy increase on this page of the Newspaper. The Board of Education wants the public to know that the increase in the tax levy results from an increase in the value of the real estate in the District and not from an increase in the rates to be levied by the District. In fact, the rates to be levied by the District in 1991 have been reduced over the rates levied in 1990 by approximately 3 cents.

The Board, by its notice of hearing, offers the public a forum where they can ask questions about the increase in the tax levy and the reduction in the tax rate.

Calling himself the "working class candidate," Max Shaffer has announced his intentions to seek the Democratic Party nomination as candidate for Madison County Circuit Clerk.

Shaffer, of Glen Carbon, joins Matt Melucci of Collinsville, Fred Perry of Edwardsville and Don Brickick of Granite City in the race.

Melucci has already gained the Democratic Party's endorsement in the race.

Shaffer, 47, said he feels the county court system needs an overhaul, and he is the one to do it.

"There are a lot of victims of the court system. It needs renovation, but no one is doing anything about it," Shaffer said. "I'm not one to sit back and let things happen. I want to make things happen."

The extended hours would also make it possible to file papers in circuit court without having to take time off from work, Shaffer said.

Shaffer said he has "zero political experience," although he ran unsuccessfully against incumbent Madison County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus in the Democratic primary election two years ago. Henkhaus was then defeated in the general election by Republican John Shimkus.

"I have something much more valuable than political experience. I understand what it is like to live from one paycheck to the next, and realize that some type of reform is necessary," Shaffer said.

He said political experience carries undesirable baggage such as favors to repay and obligations to keep.

Vadalabene honored by veterans

State Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, was recently awarded a citation for community service by State Commander James F. Hall II of the Military Order of the Purple Heart.

The award reads, "For service to your community, fellow citizens and veterans."

Vadalabene, who is the Democratic caucus chairman in the Illinois Senate, has been a leader on veterans' issues. He leads the Senate Memorial Day service mother the same day.

"The system would avoid delays by mail when the cupboard is bare," Shaffer said. "You just don't know what it's like to be without food and no way to get any unless you have been there."

The extended hours would also make it possible to file papers in circuit court without having to take time off from work, Shaffer said.

Street naming completed, 911 system nearly ready

The rural route naming game is over for Madison County 911 telephone officials, but bringing the emergency response system on line is still weeks away.

"All the addresses are done; it's finished," system coordinator Dave Whipple said.

"We have named every appropriate road in Madison County that has not been previously named."

Delay in naming the routes was a big reason the system's mid-December starting date was pushed back one to three months, officials said. In August, as many as 10,000 rural route addresses had to be assigned specific street names.

Now officials continue to tackle the problem of mismatched street names.

Street names in the county's master street address guide that don't match records kept by Illinois Bell Telephone Co. and the U.S. Postal Service have to be sorted, Whipple said.

Unscrambling the street names requires anyone with a rural route address who has not been notified of a street name change to call Whipple at 692-6200, extension 5011.

"These people that haven't been contacted, we need to hear from," he said. "I've been getting calls from time to time."

Different spellings of the same street also must be corrected.

"We're moving right ahead," Whipple said.

Almost all communication equipment has been installed, Whipple said, and programming will be started.

Furthermore, Sheriff Bob Churchill has been given the go-ahead to hire five dispatchers by mid-January, Whipple said.

A sixth 911 dispatcher will be hired in about a year.

Maintaining bridge becoming costly

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

Considerable amounts of money must continue to be spent to keep the Venice-owned McKinley Bridge as safe as possible and in the best condition that can be afforded, it was noted at Tuesday night's Venice City Council meeting.

The bridge has deteriorated in recent years and its rough surface concerns many who commute between Venice and St. Louis.

A $83,564 bill from J.S. Alberici Construction Co., St. Louis, and a motion to pay the bill from the McKinley Bridge repair and improvement account sparked questions from 2nd Ward Alderman John Henry Williams.

"What are those people doing on the bridge?" Williams asked. "And why don't they send us an itemized bill so we know?"

"They are stabilizing it," Mayor Tyrone Echols replied. "That bridge is 80 years old and rusted in parts and they have to go all underneath it every year. Some of them (bridge engineers) make $40 an hour," he added.

"I don't tell them (the engineers) what to do," the mayor stressed. "We have to do it and do it right or they will shut it down. They have to make sure that the bridge is safe," he said.

The $83,564 payment was for repair work completed during August through October, Echols said. It is separate from a proposed major renovation for which Congress has just appropriated $6 million.

Williams wasn't satisfied and said, "I don't see any improvements (on the bridge)."

It isn't visible because the work being done is underneath the bridge deck, including "scrap plates" being installed, the bridge manager, Tyrone Q. Echols, son of the mayor, explained.

When Alberici submits a bill it is itemized, he said.

The bill is sent to the Juneau and Associates engineering firm here and then on to Hardesty and Hanover of New York, the consulting engineers for the bridge, he said.

"I hate to discuss this here, as it is hard to explain," the mayor said.

"All I'm discussing is the money part," Williams replied. "Nothing that's done here is being concealed," the mayor said. "I don't think it's too much when it's (the bridge) eating money."

"That bridge has been standing for 80 years and it's old and it is going to cost between $25 million and $30 million to make it right," Mayor Echols said.

There is an itemized invoice that Williams could see at the bridge office, he added.

Funds to help finance repairs on the bridge were trimmed from $7 million to $6 million when Congress passed the federal highway bill last week.

U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Bellefonte, said he is hopeful that federal funds from other sources will eventually bring the total federal contribution to the McKinley Bridge project back up to $7 million.

"When will we get the money?" Williams asked.

"The bill is going to the president now for his signature. It's going to be some time next year, I guess. Bureaucracy is always a slow process. I really have no idea of the time frame," the mayor said.

The McKinley project includes replacing the main span railings, building a new concrete deck and widening the westbound lanes at the Venice-side approach.

Federal funding is limited to 35 percent of the total cost because McKinley is a toll bridge.

The remainder of the funding is expected to come from the states of Illinois and Missouri and from Venice.

How much the city will have to contribute to the renovation is still unknown, possibly between $20 million and $25 million, depending on contributions by the states, Mayor Echols said.

A much bigger job is trying to get someone to buy the bridge bonds that would finance the city's share of the cost, Mayor Echols said. "There is a lot more work to be done."

City officials have been talking with bond consultants he said. A $25 million bond issue would provide $17 million for renovations as well as retiring the balance of $8 million in current bridge bonds due in 1998.

A current bond payment of $1 million a year is a drain on the $2.8 million in annual revenue collected from tolls.

About $1.3 million is paid annually in salaries for 12 toll collectors plus maintenance, inspection and insurance.

First Ward Alderman Michael Terrell asked the status of Tom Fields, former bridge manager.

"He is still there and will stay until the bonds are completed," Mayor Echols said.

Tom stayed at my request. He probably does more work than 10 of them (bridge staff members). I've heard about some grumbling," the mayor said.

He said that Fields is involved in negotiations for the bridge bond issue.

"He has 13 years of experience as the bridge manager and does everything else," the mayor said after the meeting.

A decrease in daily vehicular traffic using the bridge was experienced in November, according to a report presented at the meeting.

Part of the decrease in the traffic flow that translates to temporarily less revenue can be attributed to trucking companies that use a credit system, Tyrone Q. Echols said.

A total of 400,727 vehicles used the bridge in November, an average decrease of 905 vehicles per day when compared to November 1990.

Best teacher in America

Selection of Edward M. Schroeder as the nation's outstanding teacher of 1991 is a high honor for him, Coolidge Junior High School and the Granite City School District. It also serves as a reminder of the importance of education and of the need to accentuate students' knowledge and ability in order to prepare them for an increasingly complex and competitive world.

The American Teacher Awards program honored 36 teachers who were selected from hundreds of applications by a selection committee made up of representatives from 21 national education organizations, including the American Federation of Teachers, National Education Association, American Association of School Administrators, Council of Chief State School Officers, National Association of Elementary and Secondary School Principals, National PTA, and National School Boards Association.

Choosing the top teachers in each of 12 subject categories, the committee did not set out with a model teacher in mind, but rather chose teachers with different styles, methods, backgrounds and students. Its intent was to "provide the public with a portrait of the broad range of excellent teachers contributing to the education and development of American students."

With 50 million cable households able to watch the live telecast of the Academy Award-style ceremonies in Hollywood, video profiles were presented of all 36 teachers, including scenes of their schools and communities.

One teacher in each category, again chosen by the selection committee, received recognition as the outstanding teacher in that field of education.

Schroeder won as the best teacher of English, to advance to the 12-teacher final round.

As the three-hour program neared its end, the 36 teachers, by secret ballot, selected one of the 12 finalists as the best teacher of the year.

Schroeder had responded with a jubilant talk and Disney song after winning the English award. When chosen as the best of all, he found it more difficult to speak but overcame his emotions to give an appropriate response to the theater gathering and to the nationwide audience.

Noted for making his classes enjoyable and interesting, he was praised for unique, unorthodox and successful efforts to motivate young people to learn and to understand. As Schroeder sees it, teachers are in a position to "help produce the explorers of Mars, the writers of peace treaties, the growers of wheat, the discoverers of cures, the teachers of students-to-be."

His is a high calling, and the award underscores his dedication to giving his best for one of the most worthy of all purposes — the development of a better nation and world through individual students' positive attitudes, concerns and skills.

Presidential campaign circus about to begin in America

(Carol Clarkin's opinion column appears regularly in the Edwardsville Journal.)

Like O'Neill's "carnival," the quadrennial cometh. And although the '92 election is a year away, the brass bands of the circus parade down Main Street U.S.A. can be heard, just around your corner.

The preview of the coming extravaganza promises the same old fun and games we're accustomed to having pre-empt prime time TV. To wit: barely a matter of a week after the election, Sen. John Danforth resurrected the ghost of Willie Horton.

As best I could figure out, Willie is a figment of the imagination, at least in Danforth's opinion.

In the Missouri senator's Oct. 27 appearance on "Meet the Press," George Bush either didn't connect Horton to Mike Dukakis, or someone else did it, or Bush did it unintentionally — Danforth wasn't quite clear. Willie got mixed up in the less-than-antiseptic campaign of '88.

Not quite the way I remember it, but there was a lot of hitting below the belt going on, so maybe I'm just getting old and confused.

Willie, of course, was only a minor sidebar remark in the TV appearance. Primarily, Danforth was there to explain why it took so long to get a civil rights bill passed.

It turns out that Bush really WANTED a civil rights bill to protect workers from discrimination and sexual harassment on the job. The problem was those pesky lawyers advising the president.

There was no plot against civil rights; it was just those worrywart attorneys who were "concerned about the litigation explosion in America and how to control it."

Sure it was. But the president was "strong" for a civil rights bill (sure he was) and he got a firm grip on the reins and "Dutch-uncled" those wimpy lawyers.

Danforth believes that Bush doesn't want race to be a political issue — or for that matter, gender — and THAT I do believe.

Approval of Danforth's compromise civil rights bill and the president's recent total about-face on the question of equal funding (state) for formerly all-white and historically black universities in Mississippi — the administration's earlier stance in the Supreme Court case being that the black colleges need not get more money — would seem to indicate that Bush recognizes that race will, indeed, play a part in the coming campaigns.

And that racism is alive and well and living right here with us. Witness Republicans running to disavow any connection whatsoever with David Duke, who was the Republican standard-bearer for the governorship of Louisiana.

But getting back to entertainment, there was Sen. Ted Kennedy's public repentance of his sins.

There HAVE been times when I haven't quite lived up to my own high ideals, he tells us. And, buddy, he's ashamed of himself — all the booze and broads haven't painted a very pretty picture, he knows. But from now on, he's REALLY going to try HARD to behave himself.

To live up to those lofty standards. Honest injun! OK, Teddy, good and sin no more. Or at the very least, don't break the 11th commandment and get caught.

I kind of enjoy Mario Cuomo's flirtatious peeking from behind the fan of "will I or won't I, should I or shouldn't I?"

He's a real charmer, that lad, and could at least provide us with some pithy speeches in the coming year. He's about the only one left who seems to know what oratory is all about.

But I keep wondering why he's so popular every place in the country except his home state.

It's hard to tell yet how entertaining the acts of Kerrey, Harkin, Jerry Brown, Clinton, Doug Wilder and Tsongas will be, but I can wait. Boy, can I wait.

The star turn of Circus '92 may turn out to be our own favorite Hoosier — Vice President Dan Quayle. Our Danny has matured a lot since all those embarrassing gaffes of '88.

He's done a lot of homework, gained confidence — and raised over $20 million for Republicans far and wide, no small feat. Nevertheless, if he indeed becomes what he aspires to — a "pit bull in defense of Bush," I'd have to go with the guy who said "The notion of Dan Quayle as a pit bull is reminiscent of Pee Wee Herman as a prize fighter."

Recalls Dec. 7 as turning point

TO THE EDITOR:
On this 7th of December, America observes the 50th anniversary of the bombing of Pearl Harbor.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt called it a day that would "live in infamy," and it marked the entrance of the United States into a global struggle that is only just now coming to an end. It was a struggle for the survival of freedom and democracy, and it became our struggle for the simple reason that we were — and are — the leader of the free world.

We have abiding and important cultural, trade and political ties that reach around the globe, and our interests depend on promoting and defending a world that is peaceful, stable and free.

That's worth remembering this Dec. 7. We can't afford to turn our back again on the world, which is uncertain, unstable and potentially very dangerous. The volatile conflicts between ancient ethnic and religious groups, the proliferation of sophisticated military technology, and the ambitions of nationalist leaders like Saddam Hussein suggest that the world has not suddenly become a safe and secure place.

The fact is that the United States is still the only power that can underwrite a peaceful, stable and free international community.

It does so by demonstrating its will and ability to defend its principles and interests wherever on the globe they may be challenged.

That's what our thousands of skilled, dedicated men and women in uniform do every day.

Our maritime forces are peacefully engaged throughout the world; they are training, strengthening cultural ties, building security partnerships, showing the flag, and demonstrating their readiness to respond to any contingency — from a natural disaster, to terrorist activity, to armed aggression by one nation on another.

On any given day, over 200 U.S. Navy ships — 40 percent of our fleet — are at sea. They are, as they dramatically proved during Desert Storm, ready, reliable, responsible and respected.

They represent an investment that we have to protect, because if we don't, it will take us decades to build back our ships, our technical advantage, our leadership, and our experience — decades that we simply won't have.

By being out there and being ready, our service people are the world's — and America's — best assurance that the promises of democracy and free trade will be fulfilled in the post Cold War era, and that the international community will not find itself again overcome by a global war.

That, I think, is worth thinking about on the 50th anniversary of Pearl Harbor.

Urges support of trail to lake area

TO THE EDITOR:
On Nov. 12 I presented a proposal — a plea — for the governing bodies of Pontoon Beach to become involved in the development of the School House Trail.

The trail could run the length of an abandoned railway from an area near Troy, through Collinsville and surrounding communities, to and around Horse shoe Lake.

This trail could be a terrific boon to our village, its residents and businesses. My presentation, with questions and discussion from the board and other citizens attending the meeting, took up at least 10 minutes of the agenda.

This was followed by the board agreeing to invite Rails to Trails and/or Gateway Trail to present their development plans to the board.

There was no mention whatsoever of the trail or my presentation in your reporter's coverage of the meeting.

A community concept such as this cannot succeed without public awareness and support. It is the job of the local media to promote public awareness of community-wide concerns.

With proper reporting by the local media, followed by public support, some real progress benefiting the citizens of Pontoon Beach can become a reality.

Maybe the reporter just did not think that the School House Trail was an important topic for the Village Board, but it was on the agenda and should have been included in the coverage of that meeting.

Thousands of pets being killed

TO THE EDITOR:
We think of ourselves as a pet-loving country. Americans spend billions on pet care every year. We are also a very spoiled, disposable society — even with living, feeling beings that we call our pets, "man's best friend."

At the Madison County Humane Society, we hear all the excuses of why the dog or cat someone wanted so badly no longer fits into their lifestyle and is now the shelter's problem.

To quote a recent issue of Cat Fancy, "The public can be amazingly ignorant about the number of dogs and cats that must be destroyed within their own community."

As of Nov. 13, 1,771 cats and kittens have been turned in or impounded at the Madison County Animal Control building. For "man's best friend," it is worse — 3,326 dogs and puppies have been turned in or impounded.

The MCHS attempts to screen for and adopt to good homes but 809 is very small and pales in comparison to the majority of pets which are killed. Euthanasia is the single largest cause of death for U.S. dogs and cats.

Statistics are horrid enough, but are nothing compared to looking at the doomed, innocent, trusting faces you will be dead in the morning.

I urge anyone who is not convinced about the pet overpopulation and irresponsible owner problem to walk through our county pound, the afternoon before the gas chamber is run. I urge anyone who thinks "one litter can't hurt" to look at our county pound.

At "America's true love affair with pets," recently, the MCHS and the Madison County Animal Control Committee considered a proposal to initiate differential licensing for dogs and cats and to require rabies vaccination and licensing for all cats.

Differential licensing would give county residents an incentive to neuter their pet. An owner would pay a lower fee than one with an intact pet.

Currently, the license fee is $5 for each dog. Differential licensing has been established in many communities in our county.

And decreasing stats of "surplus" pets prove it does work. At present, there is a rabies vaccination/licensing requirement and very few cats are reclaimed by their owners. A feline rabies vaccination is important for public safety. Cats by their nature are much more susceptible to rabies than dogs. A pre-licensing requirement would mean more cats would be reunited with their owners.

I urge all concerned pet lovers to support this proposal. Currently, all that is done is killing thousands of Madison County pets every year.

The MCHS believes there is a better way. It is time to be humane, educated and progressive. It is time to "killage crisis, not pet."

Opposes safety tax for college

TO THE EDITOR:
The Belleville Area College administration and previous board raised our taxes this year without voter approval under the life, health and safety provision of law.

It was ballooned as a one-time deal. However, the tax was extended and raised for next year. The extension and raise can be rescinded by the new board within the next three weeks if it so chooses. Unfortunately, members chose not to rescind it at their last board meeting.

Such tax increases place me squarely at opposite poles from the college president and board on three points.

On the local level, taxes should not be raised without first getting voter approval. The board and president apparently do not share that belief with me.

People involved in education do not throw their credibility to the wind by flouting a tax increase as a one-time deal, then extend and raise the tax again. Those in a position to correct that transgression have an obligation to do so — not simply ignore it.

The life, health, safety tax was designed to generate dollars for schools in desperate financial straits to be used to correct problems which, if left uncorrected, could affect one's life, health or safety.

It was not designed for schools in good financial condition to enact in order to raise money for improvements to be diverted to other areas, such as another round of lucrative raises for the privileged few. Colleges must set the example. Unfortunately, at BAC we are demonstrating how to take advantage of loopholes and circumvent the spirit of the law in order to go to the taxpayers' pocketbooks, and I, for one, am fed up.

TED FARMER
Member, BAC Board

Helpful service by 2 aldermen

TO THE EDITOR:
I and many others wish to publicly thank Dan Brown and Dan Partney, aldermen in Granite City's 4th Ward, for their efforts to help the city and their constituents in the ward in the removal of many, many sacks of leaves.

This is only one of the many things they have done to help the people in the 4th Ward. I am not lazy, but I appreciate things my aldermen do for me. If the other aldermen would listen to the people, maybe the city would be cleaner and be better off. Maybe their constituents would not be after them to get something done for the people, rather than to benefit the council.

ROBERT E. HOPKES
4th Ward, Granite City

Voices thanks

TO THE EDITOR:
A special tribute to our friends, fondly remembered in prayers of thanksgiving as we reflect joyously on their gifts of kindness and love bestowed upon us throughout the year.

Especially remembered with deep appreciation are the dear ladies who came to my aid after I had fallen. Without thoughts to my appearance, they bestowed upon me the means to arrive at my destination while expressing concern about the injury to my arm.

It is in thanksgiving that we wish to acknowledge the care that was given me. We also extend to all of our friends our warmest wishes that each and every one will be enlightened with gifts of joy, peace and special blessings for a very beautiful and happy holiday season.

Love and best wishes for a blessed Thanksgiving.

Give-A-Can on Dec. 14

Lucille Martin

Lucille Martin covers the Pontoon Beach scene for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 931-0731.

It is the time of season when the Pontoon Beach Lions get in gear to serve the community with their annual Give-A-Can project.

Lion Bob Richardson, project chairman, and his committee will go door-to-door throughout the village Dec. 14 collecting canned goods, which will be used to make Christmas baskets.

If it is more convenient, the people of the village may leave canned goods on their doorstep for the Lions to pick up.

When the baskets are completed, with the help from area businesses, each basket will contain fresh chicken, milk and bread. The baskets will be distributed in our area the following Saturday, Dec. 21.

For more information, call the Lions Den, 931-5184, this Saturday, between 9:30 and 2 p.m.

The monthly potluck Pontoon Beach Senior Citizens' group dinner was held Nov. 30 in the Pontoon Senior Citizen Hall.

Attendances prizes were won by Loretta and Stanley Golab and Gladys Bass.

Members attending were Bill and Ruth Dagon, Bob and Ginny Alford, Jim and Jeri Schieb, Pete and Evelyn Ferro, Everett and Alice Hudson, Jean Horstmyer, Helen and Lois Niepert.

Also, Ralph and Juanita Craycraft, Otto and Corrine Kreher, Irene McCaslin, Margo Whit, Charles Lorentz, Stanley Golab, Loretta Golab, Vera Bolton, Vicki Elmore, Betty McGinnis, Emerald and Irene Dawes, Rodney McGinnis, Helen G. Turner.

And, Faye Rody, Julia Mainor, Andrew Simurada, George and Gladys Bass, Ruby Hocking, Lauriol Purcell, Edna Webster, Ed and Glodene Van Scoyk, Lucille Martin, Lois Snipes, Dorothy Watkins, Maxine Green and Lotie Ostresk.

"Fun Bingo" was played, and later the seniors decorated the hall and Christmas tree for the holidays.

Kim Wilson, Baptist Women's president, opened the Nov. 17 meeting with a welcome to eight ladies.

Frances Brake gave devotions, Isaiah 42: 5-13, and led members in prayer for the missionaries.

Juanita Craycraft led a Mission Study, "The Life and Ministry of Jeni Hester." Hester serves in Columbia, South America.

The Week of Prayer and Foreign Mission Study were discussed.

The Lottie Moon Offering is Dec. 1-8 and the goal for the Pontoon Church is $700. Several mission actions were fulfilled this past month, and new ones are being planned for December.

On Nov. 26, the ladies of the church served a Community Thanksgiving meal. There were more than 70 people registered for the event and it was a big success. They would like to thank all church members for food donations, and especially LeRoy's Market and Clonko's market for their donations for the banquet.

George "Buddy" Haynes Jr., who is attending Indiana State University, spent the Thanksgiving vacation with his parents, George and Louise Haynes Jr.

While he was home, they all motored to Mooresville, Ind., and spent a couple days with his brother and family David and Paula Haynes and daughters, Amanda and Alice.

Other dinner guests on Thursday were: Hollis and Nancy Cochran in Mooresville and their daughters, Melody, of Greenwood, Ind., and Alma of Plainfield, Ind.

Evadean Perkins celebrates 80th

Evadean Perkins of Granite City was honored at a surprise 80th birthday party given Nov. 16 at Ralph and Charlie's Restaurant in Pontoon Beach.

The affair was hosted by the honoree's son-in-law and daughter, Charles and Betty Osburn.

Thirty friends and family members were in attendance, including Mrs. Perkins' four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

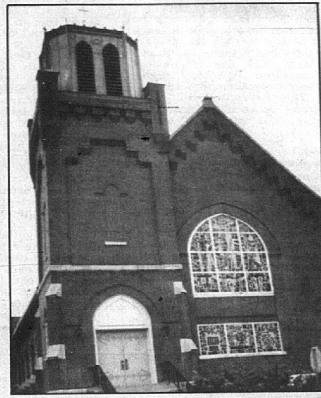

The honoree was presented many cards and gifts to mark the occasion.

Victorian Christmas

Annual house tour offers view of Christmases past

Bells will be ringing and carolers will be singing in Granite City when the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society (DNRS) hosts its annual Christmas Fair and House Tour from 4 to 8:30 p.m. Dec. 7. Immediately following the tour an authentic Victorian Ball will be held at the Granite City Township Hall, 21st and Delmar. Tickets are $7 for the tour and $3 for the ball and will be available at the First Presbyterian Church at 22nd and Delmar.

The Presbyterian Church, First Baptist Church at 21st and Delmar and St. Peter United Church of Christ at 21st and Cleveland are also included in the annual tour.

Granite City was a "boom" town between 1894 and 1914. In the spring of 1894, workmen began building factories and the town began to take shape. There were 992 residents when Granite City was incorporated on March 9, 1898. By 1910, the population had grown to 11,050.

This was a period when workmanship quality and pride were the watchwords of most working men. The homes they built are evidence of this. Many of the interiors reflect the Victorian influence of the 1890s with multiple fireplaces, ornately carved mantels, beautiful stairways and woodwork and trim that is not even manufactured today.

The DNRS held its first house tour in 1974 and again invites guests to step back to the turn-of-the-century and view the nine homes, three churches and three businesses that will participate in this year's event.

Take a close look at the three gas fireplaces and original brass light fixtures at the Darrell and Marci Davis residence, 2323 Cleveland. The combination gas-electric fixtures were installed when the house was built in 1913 due to the unreliability of electricity.

Stained glass windows are featured in several of the homes including the original matching "peacock" windows - nearly 90 years old - in the John and Sharon Ryan home, 2021.

Cleveland. St. Peter's United Church of Christ and the First Baptist Church exemplify the artistry of these windows.

During Granite City's period of rapid growth in the early 1900s, many of the homes were used as boarding houses and others housed three, four and sometimes five families.

Restoring the homes to one-family residences were projects undertaken by Ralph and Ladonna Walden, 2225 Delmar, and Jack and Melodee Jenkins, 2257 Cleveland.

When touring the home of Dan and Rhonda McDowell, 2237 Edison, a trip to the third floor is a must. The dark, dirty attic was transformed into a penthouse apartment with open air skylights.

Visitors will feel they have stepped into the cover of a magazine with the decorating techniques and color schemes in the John and Donna Sendejas home at 2116 Cleveland.

When entering the home of John and Sharon Calaway, 2205 Delmar, note the Christmas tree decorated with 85 cross-stitch ornaments made by the Calaways.

Built in 1895, the home of Tim and Carla Elliott, 2223 Delmar, is one of the oldest and features an intricately carved staircase.

Gaze at the wrap-around porch of the 12-room duplex of Rick and Donna Patton, 2139 Cleveland, and imagine cool summer breezes at the end of long, hot days.

Three businesses Coop's Corner, 23rd and Cleveland, J & L Bargain Bin, 23rd and State, and Waldens Access, 21st and Delmar, will also be included in the tour and open for business.

Carolers will stroll throughout the area and Victoria's Carriage Service will be available to view the area from a relaxing ride.

The ball will include entertainment by "Intercessions" (members of Quad-Cities Youth Fellowship) attired in Victorian regalia. Participants can learn to dance the Victorian Waltz.

Lanes of I-270 closing tonight

The Illinois Department of Transportation advises motorists that I-270 will be reduced to one lane in each direction across the bridges over the Chain of Rocks Canal and the Mississippi River on Thursday night, Dec. 5, weather permitting.

This restriction will be in effect between the hours of 7 p.m. Thursday and 4 a.m. Friday.

A deck inspection of the dual truss structures carrying I-270 over the Chain of Rocks Canal and the mile-long structure carrying I-270 over the Mississippi River will be made.

This inspection will be completed by the Friday morning rush hour. Motorists are urged to use caution while traveling through the work zone.

The firm of Alfred Benesch and Company of Chicago is performing these inspections.

"It simply makes good business sense to be where most of our customers are and where our mills are," Hagiwara said.

National Steel's mills are located in Escor, Mich., Portage, Ind., and Granite City.

"In addition to permitting closer customer relationships, our new headquarters will improve our ability to manage our operations," Doerr said.

the GI Bill to get college educations.

A college education became available as a reasonable goal for almost anyone with enough determination. We used our education to help build a strong and rich nation with global responsibilities.

We created stable marriages and families, and our tax dollars paid for the Marshall Plan, fought poverty, enforced civil rights and helped other causes. Now as we prepare to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor, we should pay tribute to all Americans who gave their lives for the freedom we enjoy in this great nation.

There are some who may want to soft-pedal the Pearl Harbor commemoration lest some Japanese be offended. This is not a piece of American history to be shrugged off, and remembering Pearl Harbor helps reaffirm the lessons of World War II.

We bore a long and weary burden during the fighting. We had no rotation where we could come home, but fought our way from one Pacific island to another and across the wide Pacific. It was one naval battle after another and, for some, it took four long years to reach home.

From Pearl Harbor to the Coral Sea, Midway, Bataan, Corregidor, Guadalcanal, Saipan, Iwo Jima and Okinawa, just to name a few, and after them came Tokyo and victory for the war-weary American servicemen and

Icy weather arrives, but still no earthquake

Mother Nature apparently doesn't like early December. If it's not an earthquake prediction, it's an ice storm.

A year ago, stores couldn't stock enough batteries to meet the demand of customers leery of a scientist's earthquake prediction for Dec. 3.

This year, stores have enough batteries to light up all of New Madrid in Missouri's Bootheel, but some are having trouble keeping a toehold on creepers. Creepers are spikes people strap onto the bottom of their shoes, in front of the heel.

Slick highways Sunday night and freezing rain Monday sent residents who had long ago forgotten earthquake madness scurrying for ice scrapers, salt, ice-melting chemicals, antifreeze and windshield solution.

Long forgotten is Ben Browning, the New Mexico climatologist turned earthquake prognosticator who sent a quiver through the Midwest by predicting a 50-50 chance of a major earthquake along the New Madrid fault zone in southern Illinois, southern Missouri and northern Arkansas. Browning died in July 1991.

Browning pinpointed the quake possibility in a period of 48 hours either side of Dec. 3, 1990.

"We didn't have it, did we?" said Illinois State Police Trooper Robert Jones, who conducted 11 earthquake preparedness seminars last year in the weeks preceding Quake Day. "Interest has basically died down. It's like anything else — out of sight, out of mind," he said.

change in lifestyle, a change in moral attitude to one that is pro-family, pro-God and pro-community.

"All the troubled times in our history, and there have been several, came to an end because there was a major change in the religious ethic of the majority."

Haine said that individuals and institutions that ignore the source of a drug dealer's money, because the drug dealer hasn't personally done anything wrong to the individual or institution, are using what has become "the standard cop-out" of society.

"One of the sad things about society today is that good and evil are being viewed as totally individual values," Haine said.

"We must have an attitude change. We must start looking at the values of good and evil before the short term. I think this is what can be found in our churches and synagogues."

As for the bragging drug dealer, Haine said, "I think of my own religious teaching: 'Pride goeth before a fall.'"

"If he continues, he's going to fall and we're going to be there to catch him. We'll be in position the moment he slips and, when he does, we'll take everything he owns."

"What we are faced with is picking up the pieces of a shattered community ethics," Haine said.

"Ultimately, diminished demand for drugs depends on a

IllMo Sunday School convention scheduled

The IllMo Sunday School Convention officers are planning a seminar March 21 in Granite City, said Rich Gosnell, convention president.

On the same date, a youth convention will be held in Granite City and a concert at Kirkwood (Mo.) High School auditorium, featuring contemporary Christian recording artist Rick Cus, Gosnell said.

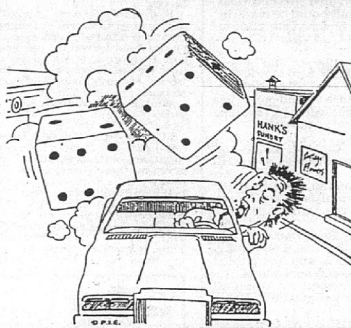

Representatives from seven other General Baptist Associations in Missouri and Illinois and the public are being invited to attend the seminars and concert.

The sponsors are planning to publish a "Business Guide" for those businesses that support the convention financially, Gosnell said. The guide will be handed out at the seminars and the concert.

Proceeds from the guide will go directly into funding of the event.

For information concerning rates or the convention call Gosnell at (314) 947-1296, or write: 1 Wood Engles Court, St. Charles, Mo. 63303; or Bill Swarrington, P.O. Box 9480, O'Fallon, Mo. 63366, or call (314) 281-9336.

Proverbs 18:10... "The name of the Lord is a strong tower; the righteous runneth into it, and is safe."

People today are obsessed with security. We have double locks on our doors, and iron bars over our windows for security. Some places even hire armed guards to patrol their streets hoping they will find safety. When we look at the evil that is in the world today, it is not surprising we will try almost anything to be safe. Did you know all of these things will fail because we are looking to human possibilities for safety?

There is one refuge we can take that will never fail us. That is God! As the scripture says, He is a strong tower, we can run to Him and be safe. No matter what happens there is peace and safety in God. He will envelope us in His love. Everything else we try will eventually fail. God never fails. He will never leave you; He will never forsake you. You can be at peace knowing He has everything under control.

Run to Him and be safe, today!

Young at Heart senior club plans holiday trip

The Young at Heart seniors club met Nov. 18 at Holy Family Community Center.

The meeting was conducted by Irma Manning, president.

The opening prayer was given by Sister Margaret Mary, followed by the pledge of allegiance.

"Happy Birthday" was sung to Ann Pieper, Josephine Vangel, Irend Kadlinec, Jean Francis and Lorraine Parkinson.

"Happy Anniversary" was sung to Earl and Irma Marti on their 50th wedding anniversary.

Winnie Kelly, Friendship chairman, reported she had sent get-well and sympathy cards to members.

Plans were finalized for a trip to Missouri for a Christmas Show in December.

A collection was taken by the group to be used for purchasing food baskets for needy families at Christmastime.

It was announced that the Golden Agers Christmas dinner will be held Dec. 8.

At the meeting, the meeting was adjourned, pie and coffee were served by Helen Harshany and her committee.

Attendance prizes were awarded to members, and the balance of the evening was spent playing bingo.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Sometimes landlords contact this office and indicate that their tenants have stopped paying rent. They wonder what procedure must be followed in order to evict a delinquent tenant. Many property owners inquire about whether they can take matters into their own hands in having the tenant removed by changing the locks or shutting off the utilities.

In one recent case, a man owned an apartment building, and one of the tenants was three months behind in rent. The landlord had made repeated demands for rent payments, but the tenant had continually refused to pay due to a lay-off at work. The owner in this case had an extra set of keys to the apartment, and he wanted to know if he could remove the tenant's furniture from the apartment.

In another situation, a man owned a rental house, and the lessee had not paid rent in four months. In this case, the property owner had the utilities listed in his own name. Because the tenant refused to move despite repeated demands, the landlord wanted to have the utilities shut off in the middle of winter. He asked whether such an action would be appropriate given the circumstances.

Illinois law provides that a property owner cannot take it upon himself to evict a tenant without obtaining a court order. If a landlord removes furniture, turns off the heat, or changes the locks, this is known as constructive eviction. If a lessor does not go to court to have a delinquent tenant removed but rather takes matters into his own hands, he faces the possibility of a civil suit for wrongful eviction.

What procedures should a landlord follow when a tenant falls behind in the rent? The landlord in this situation would need to serve a notice on the tenant. If the tenant does not leave at the end of the notice period, the landlord will need to file an action in court known as a Forcible Entry and Detainer. Ultimately the property owner will obtain a judgment for possession, which will require the tenant to move within a specified period of time. If the renter still does not vacate the property, the sheriff will come and forcibly remove the delinquent tenant. For a landlord to attempt to remove a tenant by his own methods without benefit of a court order is a foolhardy since this could result in civil liability under Illinois law.

Burial will be at Jefferson Barracks National Cemetery, St. Louis County.

Cencom raising rates

By Angie Cairns
Staff writer

Rates for Cencom cable subscribers in Troy, Collinsville, Maryville, Granite City, Caseyville and Edwardsville will be going up Jan. 1, according to a letter of notification sent to the six municipalities.

The rate for basic cable service will increase $1.95, for a total bill of $22.40 per month. The last time this service increased was in January 1991. The rate for premium channels such as HBO and the Disney Channel went up in September.

Jim Bogart, manager of public and government relations for Cencom, said the basic rate increases are typical for the start of each year. When the annual budget is reviewed each fall, the company then decides what adjustments need to be made to cover expenses for the next fiscal year, he said.

The adjustments are also needed to cover investments in technology and to provide better customer service, Bogart said.

But despite the company's explanations for the annual increases, at least one subscriber is not convinced. Dan Jackson of Troy spoke out against the increase at the Troy city council meeting on Monday. City Clerk Mary Chasteen had read the letter of notification at the start of the meeting.

Jackson said he plans on canceling his service from Cencom

Herschel Bailey

Herschel "Rick" Bailey, 83, of Jackson Township, Altamont, Ill., died at 3:20 p.m. Friday, Nov. 22, 1991, at Van Dyke Convalescent Center in Effingham.

Mr. Bailey was born March 12, 1908, in Altamont. He was a retired farmer and member of the Farm Bureau. He also had worked at the American Steel Foundries in Granite City.

Survivors include one son, Roger Bailey of Altamont; one daughter, Cheryl Dorsey of Effingham; one brother, Russell Bailey of Granite City; and three grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Helen Virginia (Higgs) Bailey, whom he married in 1942. She died in 1986. Also preceding him in death were his parents, Everett and Maude (White) Bailey, and one brother, Henry P. Bailey.

Funeral services were held Nov. 25 at Johnson Funeral Home in Effingham. Burial was at Arborcrest Memorial Park in rural Effingham.

Memorials are suggested for Jackson Township Baptist Church in rural Altamont or the American Cancer Society.

Margaret Gibbs

Margaret Marie (Johnson) Gibbs, 68, of Granite City died at 9:16 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 4, 1991, in the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

She was born March 27, 1923, in Kentucky, and she had resided in Granite City for 31 years. Prior to living here, she was a homemaker and of the Baptist faith.

Survivors include her husband, Elvin Gibbs; and one brother, Glenn Johnson of Lewisburg, Ky. She was preceded in death by her parents, Rese and Badie Johnson.

Arrangements are pending at Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave., 876-4321.

Warm Neighbors drive progressing with IP help

Strong support from Illinois Power customers has pushed contributions to the Warm Neighbors program to more than $200,000, 44 percent of the $450,000 goal.

More than 9,600 customers have pledged one-time and monthly donations to the Warm Neighbors program. Illinois Power matches contributions up to $100,000 each year.

"The response to the campaign has been terrific," said Lerton Krushas, executive director of the Energy Assistance Foundation (EAF), "especially since the need is so much greater than in past years."

A decade ago, 7.2 percent of Illinois residents lived in poverty. Now, 13.7 percent—1.56 million people—live below the federal poverty threshold of $13,399 annual income for a family of four.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Champion
Champions-
25 years

Fred and Jessie Champion of Granite City celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Nov. 25.

On Nov. 24, their family and friends hosted a gathering in their honor at the home of a daughter.

The Champions were married Nov. 25, 1966, at Grace Baptist Church.

Fred Champion formerly worked at General Steel Industries in Granite City and his wife was employed in St. Louis.

In 1976, the couple moved to St. James, Mo., where they both worked and retired from the Missouri Veterans Home. They returned to Granite City two years ago.

The Champions have four daughters: Sandra (Cory) Gibson, Sharon Cory, Sue Palmer and Rebecca Champion, all of Granite City.

They also have eight grandchildren.

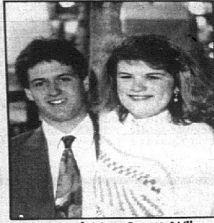

Deborah Reeves
and David Pentland
Reeves-Pentland

Deborah Lynn Reeves, daughter of Carol Reeves of Granite City and Robert Reeves of St. Louis, and David Elwin Pentland, son of Al and Connie Pentland of Lake in the Hills, Ill., have announced their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

The bride-to-be is a 1982 graduate of Granite City High School and a 1989 graduate of St. Louis College of Pharmacy, graduating with a bachelor's degree in pharmacy. She is a registered pharmacist and is employed by St. Luke's Hospital of Chesterfield, Mo.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Jacobus High School and will graduate from St. Louis College of Pharmacy in 1992 with a bachelor of pharmacy degree.

The couple is planning a Dec. 28 wedding at St. Peter Evangelical Church of Christ in Granite City.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Wilson
Wilson-Rich

Tracy Rich, daughter of Ranney Rich of Granite City, and Scott Wilson, son of David and Ellen Wilson of Granite City, have announced their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

The bride-to-be is a major in word processing at Belleville Area College in Granite City. She graduated from Granite City High School in 1988 and is employed by Angelica Uniform Group of St. Louis as a bid secretary.

Her fiancé attends the American Banking Institute in St. Louis. He graduated from Granite City High School in 1987 and is employed by Magna Bank of Granite City. He is a sergeant in the Granite City Auxiliary Police.

The couple is planning an April 1993 wedding.

Pink-and-blue streamers add festive touch to baby shower

Kathy Dohnal covers the Madison-Venice scene for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 877-1096.

A baby shower for Patti Scaturro Terveer of Madison was given Nov. 24 by friends and relatives at the Madison Recreation Center.

Pink-and-blue streamers decorated the tables, with plant centerpieces on each table. Attendance prizes were given. A cake with a "baby in a blanket" was the centerpiece on the dessert table.

Kathy and Tina Scaturro, sisters of Patti and Terri Bruncie, assisted Patti in opening her gifts.

Mart Terveer is the proud father-to-be.

After Patti opened the gifts, a buffet luncheon was served to: Helen Loftus, Pat Loftus, Shari Needham, Amanda Needham, Mary Adams, Karen Smith, Donna Sprankle, Lucille Korinek, Sandra Bray, Sue Rayburn, Carolyn Broyles, Donna Fince, Denise Fowler, Marlene Hart, Tessie Ruzic, Bonnie Miller, Julie Miller, Bobbie Dallas, Julie Pearce, Gail Miller.

new member by all with the Scout handshake.

Leaders are Scheryl Perdue and Bobi Papa.

Scouts taking part were: Ruthie Koliste, Linda Dohnal, Liz Hudzik, Angie Perdue, Catherine Layloff, Liz Dittman, Bobbie Dorris, Jessica Bathon, Kristin Stoval and Cookie Fields.

Guests attending were: Kathy Dohnal, Diane Hudzik and son, Matthew, Georgia Layloff, Pat Dittman, Ann Dorris and son, Chris; Karen Stoval; and Mike Papa.

A short parents' meeting followed.

The Scouts made plans to attend Thanksgiving Mass at St. Elizabeth and present the flags.

The Festival of Giving will be held from 3:30 to 6 p.m. Saturday. The Scouts will tour Catholic Charities and bring can goods. They will then swim at the YMCA and have refreshments.

Monday, they visited "Father Bud" at St. Elizabeth Rectory to work on their "I Live My Faith" impression.

The troop Christmas party will be held Dec. 16. Mothers will provide the treats.

Students among Merit

Dianna Brandt and Justin Stallings of Granite City are among the 26 Illinois Merit Recognition Scholars attending Illinois College in Jacksonville.

Both Stallings and Brandt are graduates of Granite City High School.

The 26 new freshman qualified for the scholarship program by graduating in the top 5 percent of their high school class. The Illinois Student Assistance Commission funds the scholarship program and provides each recipient with a $1,000 award.

JoAnn Moller, director of financial aid at Illinois College, said the 26 scholars comprise the largest group of merit recognition award recipients to enroll at the liberal arts college since the program was started several years ago. They comprise more than 10 percent of the college's freshman class.

Time is right for Warrior cagers

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

The time is now. Ronald Reagan's campaign slogan of 1984 would seem to apply to the 1991-92 Warrior basketball team. Bill Ohlendorf begins his third year at the helm with an all-senior starting lineup that is rated one of the best in the area. This is the year to make some hay. Early polls, in fact, had the Warriors ranked 21st in the state among Class AA teams and second to Collinsville in the Metro East. But the proof will be established on the court beginning Friday in an 8 p.m. home game against Triad.

CC basketball

The two-headed centerpiece, of course, featured Twin Towers Jeff and Brian Smith. Jeff is headed to Valparaiso University next year and Brian also figures to be a Division I player. But for now the 6-6 brothers want to join their teammates in making an impression at the high school level. Jeff, the center, and Brian, a forward, combined for 33 points and 17 rebounds a game last year. Those numbers could get a little higher, the supporting cast offers some promising possibilities. "The twins will not always be our first option going down the floor," said Ohlendorf. "They certainly won't be as much a focus as we would have wanted last year. There are other places to turn."

excited about the addition of 6-0 senior guard Michael Dochwat. He moved in from Nevada in time to contribute to the Warrior football team this fall. Academic problems kept him out of four games, however. "We hope those problems are behind him," said Ohlendorf of his new point guard. "As we saw from football, he's very quick. He plays good defense and is a pretty good rebounder for his size."

John is the silent type," said Ohlendorf. "He plays his role intelligently. We don't expect a lot of scoring out of him. John can take care of the ball, do some rebounding and hit some free throws." The first players off the bench will be Larry Mosby, Leroy Samuels and Dan Askins. Mosby, in fact, is still a possibility as the starting point guard. He's a 5-9 sophomore. "Larry will suffer a little because of his youth and lack of size," said Ohlendorf. "But he knows how to play the game and he has tremendous quickness. His defense is outstanding and he passes the ball extremely well. The only thing he's lacking is a consistent shooting touch."

Bill Ohlendorf ... more quickness ops like Reno, Warrior fans will be dazed in the next two years. Reno Mosby was probably the best point guard in the area — small and large schools — last season. Reno's masterpiece was recording double figures in points, assists, rebounds and steals in one game. He's now at Florissant Valley Community College. "His uncle and father played for me at Venice," said Ohlendorf. "Larry is only going to get better."

Granite City Superfans Shootout

King ranked 1st in Illinois; sixth in national poll

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

The stage isn't quite set, but it's close enough. Memorial Gymnasium should be the center of basketball attention for area fans Saturday afternoon and evening. The coup de grace of the four-game Granite City Superfans Shootout will be the 8:30 p.m. showdown featuring the Warriors against Chicago King.

Chicago King coach Landon "Sonny" Cox (end of bench) calls out instructions during last year's Superfans Shootout in Collinsville.

King is No. 1 in the state and No. 6 in a nationwide poll of high school teams. "The guy promoting it is a little behind in getting his work done," said Dennis Schickedanz, the self-proclaimed Superfan who was speaking of himself. "I've got about 4,000 things to do and I haven't even got the press release out." But the Shootout is on. The highlight of the evening will be a game within The Game. The Warriors have 6-8 twin brothers Jeff and Brian Smith. King has juniors Rashard Griffith (7-1) and Thomas Hamilton (7-2). "There won't be a high school game anywhere this year that has four taller players on the floor at one time," said Schickedanz. "You have my guarantee on that."

Three other good matchups on tap

Granite City vs. Chicago King is Saturday's featured attraction, but there are three games to be played before that. Unfortunately, some of the participating teams are off to rocky starts. As a result, a late-arriving crowd might be anticipated. "That's hard to say," said GCHS athletic director Greg Patton. "With no reserved seats, some people might want to get there in order to assure themselves a good place to sit." Doors will open at 3 p.m. Game 1: Belleville West girls vs. Granite City girls, 4 p.m.; Granite City vs. 1-0 heading into Wednesday's game with Edwardsville, with sophomore Jamie Cavanaugh having scored 33 points in a 78-22 win over Madison on Monday.

Game 2: Lebanon vs. Staunton, 5:30 p.m.; Staunton was 20-4 last year and has some good size in its junior class. The Bulldogs are led by 6-5 juniors Kevin Meyer and Andy Kuba. Kevin Henken is a 6-3 guard with good shooting ability. Staunton has a new coach in Randy Legendre, but has struggled to an 0-4 start. Lebanon is coached by John Schleppe and usually plays an exciting, up-tempo game with excellent outside shooting. The Greyhounds were 15-15 last year and graduated Doug Schleppe (27.5 points per game). Rico Weatherall is the top returning scorer. Lebanon is 0-1 after losing to Gibault on Tuesday.

Game 3: Venice vs. Brentwood (See SHOOTOUT, Page 4B)

Tiger pressure stymies Lady Warriors, 55-41

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

Edwardsville employed a ferocious press and broke open a close game with the first 12 points of the second half Wednesday in beating the Lady Warriors 55-41. The Tigers forced 15 turnovers in Granite City's home opener and caused general havoc in the backcourt. "We did a real good job defensively," said Tiger coach Dave Tissier after his team had improved to 4-0. "We played what looked like a totally disjointed defense, but we did a great job with the triangle-and-two." "We worked on the press all week, but the girls just weren't ready yet," said Lady Warrior coach Allen Lobdell, as his team fell to 1-1. Granite City made only 7 of 31 shots in the first half and was fortunate to stay close. Kim Jackson of the Tigers had 20 points in the first half. It was 12-12 early in the second half. (See PRESS, Page 4B)

Girls basketball

Anderson's three-pointer saves Venice in overtime

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

If the whole season goes like the opener, Clinton Harris is going to age 10 years in one winter. The Red Devils trailed for almost the entire game Tuesday against visiting Freeburg. Down by 11 starting the fourth quarter, Venice mounted a furious rally and tied the game in the final seconds. After a scoreless first overtime, senior guard Marcus Anderson buried a three-pointer with two seconds left in the second extra period for a 60-57 win. "They were collapsing down around Marcus (Franklin) most of the game," said Harris, the Venice coach. "It was good to see somebody like Anderson hit a big basket." The Middlets already had played one game (a 27-point loss to Gibault) and returned four starters from a 15-11 team of a year ago. As a result, they were much sharper. "We just didn't get back on defense well enough until the second half."

Venice basketball

It was still 52-41 after three quarters, but Venice outscored Freeburg 16-5 in the fourth quarter to force overtime. Franklin who led all scorers with 21 points, tied the game with a free throw with 10 seconds left. The Red Devils controlled the tip in overtime and held the ball the entire three minutes. Cedric Wiley drove the lane in the final 10 seconds and dished off to Low. Newcome. But he was called for traveling. "Lowell said he tripped over Cedric's foot when he went to make his move," said Harris. Venice again controlled the tip in the second overtime and used the same strategy. With defenders all around Franklin, Anderson made the winning shot and Freeburg again missed a desperation heave at the buzzer. "We improved on some things during the game, but we still have a lot of work to do," said Harris. "I didn't think we were overconfident. We knew Freeburg had a good team back from last year." Brad Behrman led the Middlets with 16 points. Jim Jansen, who led Freeburg with a 16.3 average last year, had 12 — but only two in the second half. Chad Harbaugh (11) and Clint Bickett (10) were also in double figures. Newsome joined Franklin in double figures for the Red Devils with 12 points. Anderson had nine, Johnathon Love had eight, Ben McIntyre had six and Wiley had four.

Bob Wente Jr. buys Tri-City Speedway

By Steve Birmingham
Correspondent

Tri-City Speedway will debut next year under the banner of a new owner who promises weekly late model stock car racing.

Bob Wente Jr., promoter of the half-mile and quarter-mile dirt facilities the last two years, closed the deal Nov. 21 with former owner Harry Alton of Springfield, Ill.

Our biggest goal is to get a weekly program going again to satisfy the demand for a consistent late model program in the St. Louis area," Wente said. "There is high interest in having a place to race weekly. A lot of drivers, from late models to street stocks, like racing here. The facility is appealing to all forms of motor sports."

The 1992 season opens weekly action April 25 with the late models, IMCA modifieds and street stocks.

Six to eight special events are also planned, including three World of Outlaws sprint car races, midweek races and special shows featuring leading NASCAR Winston Cup drivers.

Wente is committed to assisting the growth of IMCA modified and midweek racing in St. Louis. Last year, more than 60 drivers competed in the IMCA class, which shared the bill on the programs. More than 40 cars also showed for most midweek dates, Wente said.

IMCA controls the costs of racing to make it affordable for new people to become active participants in motor sports," Wente said. "The ratio of prize money to costs is very favorable. This class is creating the racers of tomorrow and giving all of us in racing more of a future to look forward to."

Wente held an exclusive lease last year, which included the option to buy the 31-acre facility. The cost of the lease, option and purchase of the track was $400,000, Wente said.

Wente, 39, also promoted special events at the St. Charles Speedway for several years before moving to Tri-City in 1989.

The oldest son of USAC Midweek Champion and Sprint Car Hall of Famer Bob Wente Sr., Bob Jr. also wheeled the mighty midweekers. Brothers Terry and Mike also drive the speedsters, with Terry planning a switch to the American Speed Association stock cars for 1992.

Wente said he has seen "real growth in midweek racing participation in this part of the country."

"The talent of drivers in midweek racing will offer an exciting, quality racing program to open wheel fans," Wente said. "Tri-City will also continue to be a very popular stop for the Copeland/Skool World of Outlaws Tour. We're working with Ted Johnson (owner of the World of Outlaws) on next year's schedule and trying to accommodate three dates as we did in 1991."

An informational meeting for interested participants is slated for noon Jan. 5 at the Elks Lodge, 1063 Maryville Road. The lodge is located two miles south of the race track and just east of Nameki Road. For more information, call Wente Enterprises at (314) 947-7287.

Elks Hoop Shoot
slated at Grigsby
for this Saturday

Local competition for the 20th Annual Elks Hoop Shoot will be Saturday at Grigsby Junior High School.

The Hoop Shoot is the national free throw shooting contest for youngsters ages 8-13. Registration begins at 8 a.m., with the competition set to begin at 9 a.m.

Local winners will compete against other contestants in the district event in Centralia on Feb. 1. Names of the national winners will be inscribed on the Elks National Hoop Shoot plaque on permanent display in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass.

More than three million youngsters all over the country entered last year's competition for boys and girls in age categories 8-9, 10-11 and 12-13. Each contestant has 25 shots. The boy and girls in each age group with the best scores advance through four tiers of competition to qualify for the national finals at Market Square Arena in Indianapolis next spring.

'91 Warrior gridders best in at least a long while

Was this the finest football team ever produced by Granite City High School?

There's no way to give a definitive answer to that, but the 1991 Warriors can make some solid arguments on their own behalf. They won the games they were supposed to win — most of them handily. Teams like Cahokia, Quincy, Collinsville, Edwardsville and Alton were swatted away like so many mosquitos at a Sunday picnic.

When the season began, a 7-2 record seemed possible. The games in question were road tests at East St. Louis and St. Louis U. High. The first loss did come to the Flyers, but East Side came away knowing they were in a battle for 48 minutes. A couple of bad bounces, a key clipping penalty, a long interception return and Chris Moore's touchdown as time expired spelled out a shaky 31-19 Flyer win.

It was after that game that a victory at SLUH seemed not such an impossible task. The Junior Bills went into the game undefeated with a high-tech passing game led by senior quarterback Steve Schnur. But the Warriors had a way to stop Schnur — keep him off the field. Granite City's ball-control offense was awesome and the defense limited Schnur's effectiveness in a 23-7 win which got Warrior fans thinking big thoughts.

Tom Wyrostek's team showed more grit in the regular-season finale. They trailed a determined Belleville East team 17-7 on a frigid night at Memorial Stadium. The Lancers needed the win to make the playoffs, but Granite City got two touchdowns and the underdog defense held off East's final drive.

East St. Louis simply wasn't going to let itself get beat in the playoffs, so the 26-6 loss to the Flyers in the opening round wasn't a big shock.

As good as the Warriors seemed then, their stock has risen even more in the ensuing four weeks. East St. Louis rolled to another state title, but no playoff team gave them as much of a battle as the Warriors did Oct. 4. SLUH, meanwhile, came within 10 seconds of earning a share of the Missouri Class 3A state title. And their loss came to Jefferson City, a team East St. Louis had beaten by 20 points early in the year.

So how does it all add up? The Warriors finished seventh in the Suburban Journals large school coaches poll. Most of the coach-

The 1991 Warriors beat most opponents handily, dominated the Missouri state runners-up on their home field and gave the Illinois state champs two very tough games.

es on the panel were from Missouri, so that's not really shocking (East St. Louis and SLUH were 1-2). But Granite City was rated second-best in the metro east, and there's no doubt about that.

I haven't been around long enough to compare this Warrior team with many of the previous good teams. But the 1986 team coached by Ron Yates won the Southwestern Conference and beat Quincy in the playoffs before finishing 8-3. Their 17-14 win over East St. Louis will never be forgotten.

The Flyers came back to blank the Warriors 20-0 in the second round of the playoffs, but East Side was beaten on its home field the next week by Homewood-Flossmoor in the quarterfinals. The 1986 Warriors also got beat 41-0 by Belleville Althoff and lost a close game at home to Springfield Griffin.

The 1991 Warriors were only out of one game all year, and that was to an awesome team on the road to a state title. That was also the only team to beat them. This team scored more points (281-172) and allowed fewer (130-158) than the 1986 team. Taking all that into account, the 1991 version would probably have to be given an edge. Of course, arguments can be made about the overall strength of the schedule in both years. I'll leave that to others.

This is not meant at all to look down on anything the 1986 Warriors accomplished. It's just another ringing endorsement of the 1991 squad. How this year's players perform at the college level will tell more. Some should do very well.

How this team compares to the other great teams of the past will be left to those with longer memories than my own. For now, let's just say this year's Warrior football team was the best of the post-Vietnam era and leave it at that.

Bye.

Food drive by Cencom

Cencom Cable has announced an opportunity for cable television customers to help the needy and enjoy varied TV programs. Cencom will offer a special installation price for customers who choose to donate two canned goods to a holiday food drive.

Canned goods will be collected by Cencom employees at the time of sale or the installation, whichever is more convenient for the customer.

For donating two cans of food, customers will be offered an installation fee of $7.95, with Home Box Office or The Disney Channel free for the first 30 days. Concurrent with the customer food drive will be a Cencom employee canned goods drive.

Cencom anticipates collecting more than 8,000 cans of food for the needy.

All canned goods will be donated to the St. Louis Area Food Bank, a United Way agency that serves both Missouri and Illinois. It is one of the region's principal distributors of food to the needy.

The holiday food drive will run through Dec. 22.

"We're pleased to be working with the St. Louis Area Food Bank in this important effort," said E.J. Glaser, Cencom's sales and marketing director. "Regrettably, hunger continues to be a major problem in the community, and we are grateful to our customers and employees for their assistance."

Area auto dealers in 'national test drive'

Granite City area Ford dealers are participating in a "National Test Drive" program.

The program offers local car buyers an opportunity to road-test one of the auto industry's arrays of all-new 1992-model products.

Ford dealers are introducing more new cars and light trucks during the 1992-model year than during any similar period in recent history," said Jack Valentic, Ford Division's Kansas City regional sales manager.

Major changes to Ford's product lineup include all-new Taurus sedans and wagons, two new four-door Escort sedans, a new Crown Victoria Touring Sedan, a redesigned F-Series pickup line, a redesigned Bronco and an all-new full-sized Econoline van and Club Wagon.

"Granite City area Ford dealerships are joining Ford dealers nationwide in a one-month event designed to give new-car shoppers an opportunity to test drive the Ford products of their choice," Valentic said.

Participating dealers also are prepared to offer customers low financing terms and cash-back incentives.

Undergoing its greatest change since introduction in December

1985, the Taurus has received a major redesign for 1992. A sleeker body design, a more user-friendly interior and an optional passenger-side supplemental restraint system are just a few of many new features.

Escort adds two new four-door sedans to its recently redesigned lineup for 1992. The four-door LX and LX-E provide five-passenger seating, spacious trunks and many standard comfort features. The LX-E is a performance model that has styled aluminum wheels, performance tires, a sport suspension and a 127-horsepower, 1.8-liter, twin-cam engine.

The new Ford Touring Sedan provides a top-of-the-line performance model for the Crown Victoria lineup. It offers buyers the traditional size and comfort of a Crown Victoria with the performance of an overhead-cam, 210-horsepower V-8 and a handling suspension.

"Exterior styling changes give the full-sized F-Series pickup, Bronco utility vehicle and Econoline van and Club Wagon a more aerodynamic, contemporary look and their interiors are more refined and car-like as well," Valentic said.

House of Fabrics opens 'super store' in Granite

House of Fabrics So-Fro Fabrics, now the nation's largest home sewing and craft retailer, has opened a 7,335-square-foot "super store" at the American Village Shopping Center in Granite City.

House of Fabrics, based in Sherman Oaks, Calif., will open 40 or so new stores this year, as it did last year. House of Fabrics is expanding and relocating stores, upgrading fabrics, offering sewing classes and making craft items a key factor in repositioning, continually attracting new business.

Since 1984, House of Fabrics has been moving from 4,000-square-foot stores in shopping malls to 6,000- to 15,000-square-foot super stores. This year super stores will account for 64 percent of the company's outlets.

Expanded state export markets sought south

Gov. Jim Edgar of Illinois has announced traveling to Mexico this week to meet with high-level government and business officials in order to expand Illinois' role in the Mexican marketplace.

"Mexico is one of the fastest growing markets for Illinois exports," he said.

"Since Mexico eased its tariffs in 1986, Illinois exports have more than tripled. Mexico is now the fifth largest buyer of Illinois-made products and services, annually purchasing $880 million in goods and services from Illinois businesses," the governor said.

Bob Wydra, manager of the Tri-City Port District, is part of the Illinois delegation. The port district has been promoting its potential as a major U.S. port for imports and exports with Mexico. Wydra and a delegation from the district went to Mexico in February and a Mexican delegation came to Granite City in June.

"I am looking forward to meeting with President Carlos Salinas de Gortari and some of his key cabinet members to enhance our growing economic partnership," Edgar said.

"Good partnerships — partnerships that are beneficial to both sides — are based on constant communication. We must do all we can to nurture our relationships and help Illinois companies that want to sell their products in new markets, such as Mexico."

Edgar was invited to join key leaders of the Mexican government in opening ceremonies Dec. 3 for REP-COM '91, a multi-industry trade show with exhibits ranging from manufacturers of industrial machine parts to producers of animal health products.

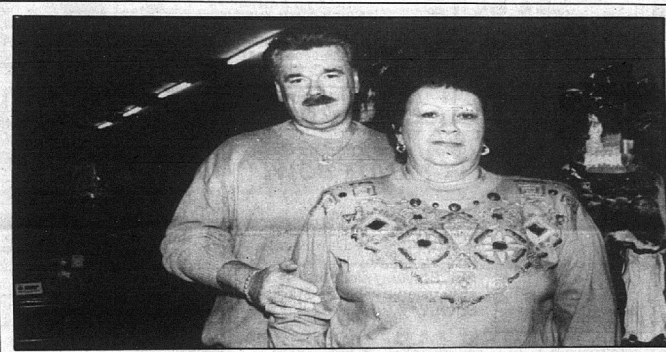

About a dozen of the 17 Illinois companies participating in the trade show, which continued through Dec. 5, were export novices and all were small- to medium-sized companies.

Immediately following the ceremony, Edgar was to tour the show and visit each of the Illinois booths. Earlier that day, he was to tour La Bolsa, which is the Mexican stock exchange, and meet with La Bolsa's vice president.

The governor was scheduled to meet with President Salinas de Gortari on Dec. 4. He also was to meet individually with the Mexican secretaries of Foreign Relations, Tourism, Transportation and Commerce, and Agriculture.

Other highlights of the trip were to include meetings with Ignacio Pichardo, governor of the State of Mexico, and Manuel Comacho-Solis, mayor of Mexico City.

Mexico and Illinois share market interests in a number of industries, including agriculture, electronics, pharmaceuticals, tools and auto parts, mining and construction.

Glik's $10 and Less gets recognition in Forbes

The Dec. 9 edition of Forbes magazine features Glik family's $10 and Less chain of clothing stores.

Glik's, which opened originally in Madison 94 years ago, is headquartered in Granite City. The Forbes article focuses on one-price stores. The Glik's experimented with the $10 and Less stores in 1988 in Highland, and now have seven of the stores, opened in the metropolitan St.

Louis area. Glik's uses a buying service and its good reputation with dealers to take advantage of over produced and over stocked items, buying for less and offering them in the one-price store, said Bob Glik, vice president. When the company opened its $10 or Less in Granite City, Glik said, they were fearful of providing competition for their Glik's chain, but he said the stores sell

"totally different items."

The recognition in Forbes is the company's first mention in the national publication and quite an honor, Glik said.

"Forbes probably has the most affluent readership in the United States," Glik said. "It is obviously something to be proud of, and being a family-owned business headquartered here in Granite City something the city can be proud of."

Cook, Ault named to foundation

Arla Ault and George Cook of Granite City were recently appointed to the Madison County Extension Foundation for terms of three years. The Foundation was organized in 1987, solely for charitable purposes, to support the programs and services of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Truck winner from Madison

Christmas concert at auditorium today

The Granite City High School Vocal Music Department will present its annual Christmas Concert at 7:30 p.m. today (Thursday) in the high school auditorium.

The concert will open with the entire vocal department singing a medley of traditional carols telling of their first Christmas.

Jennifer Guzy will narrate the story as the choruses sing: "O Come All Ye Faithful," "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," "The First Noel," "Away in a Manger," "We Three Kings" and "Joy to the World."

The Girls Glee Club will perform "Now Is the Caroling Season," "Peace, Peace," "Come, Children, Join to Sing," and "Christmas Is a Feeling." The Advanced Mixed Chorus will sing the "Hosanna" and the "Pie Jesu" from Andrew Lloyd Webber's "Requiem," with solos by Jeremy Hartman, Charles Hill, Carrie Heck and Amy Hicks.

The Advanced Mixed Chorus will sing "Christ Is Born" and "As Lately We Watched." The Contando will sing "Bright Star," "Jesus, Jesus, Rest

Your Head," "Jesu Bambino," with a solo by Melissa Sammons, and "Calypso for Christmas."

The Swing Choir will end the concert with the Christmas show "I Love Christmas," featuring "We Need a Little Christmas," "It's Beginning to Look a Lot like Christmas," "Home for the Holidays," "I'll Be Home for Christmas," "Jingle-Bell Christmas," "Frosty the Snowman," Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer, "Let It Snow," "The Christmas Song," "We Wish You A Merry Christmas" and "I Love Christmas."

Soloists in the Christmas show will be Melodie Barnes, Jaci Brewer, Heath Walker, Mandy Bloodworth, Anna Farmer, Jeremy Hartman, Winona Mefford, Lynda Mahoney, Melissa Griffin, John Redstone, Jeremy Lewis, Lisa Dohoney, Timothy Howell, Kevin Randall, Melissa Woehrl, Jennifer Norris, John Buxton, Kathleen Reader, Jeffrey Crane, Beth Perry, Amanda Bettis, Amy Hicks, Carrie Heck and Sherri Mattern.

Tickets for the concert are 75 cents for students and $1 for adults. Gail Mueller is the choral director at Granite City High School.

Feast of old films flavors turkey leftovers

Turkeys on video can be a welcome complement to turkey leftovers—movies so bad that they're good, the kind of movies that friends and family get a kick out of mocking as they play.

Old favorites Henry Fonda and Lucille Ball star in a botched Damon Runyan story, "The Big Street" (1942, RKO, $19.95), that's entertaining in a ludicrous way. Young Fonda is a shy thing who falls head over heels for Lucy, who plays a hard-as-nails nightclub chanteuse. After she's crippled in a tragic accident, Fonda pushes her in a wheel-chair all the way from Manhattan to Florida. There's even a rear-view projection shot of the couple on a highway.

When Fonda won the American Film Institute Life Achievement Award 30 years later, clips of this movie brought affectionate laughter from his peers. Fonda then reminisced about his date with Ball during the film's production. "Oh, don't tell 'em about that," Ball instructed from the audience in her deep voice. So Fonda simply said, "If things had gone better, the name of that studio might have been 'Henry!'"

A good long Western is Michael Cimino's landmark flop, "Heaven's Gate" (1980, MGM/UA, $29.98), which can last all afternoon or night. A handsome production, Vilmos Zsugmond's Wyoming-location photography and a big cast—including Kris Kristofferson, Isabelle Huppert, Jeff Bridges, Christopher Walken and John Hurt—more than make up for the narrative lapses. A scene in a roller-skating rink will appeal to those who favor roller blades today.

With their would-be Christmas hits "Hook" and "Bugsy" poised at the starting gate, Dustin Hoffman and Warren Beatty are worth another look in "Ishtar" (1987, RCA/Columbia, $29.98), an expensive flop often acknowledged as the "Heaven's Gate" of comedy. The biggest laugh comes early when Beatty is absent-mindedly driving an ice cream truck and not hearing the kids asking him to pull over. "Hey, stupid!" yells one of them. A couple of cultures show up later and upstage the stars.

Pia Zadora's moniker on a movie guarantees a howler, and her version of the James M. Cain novel "Butterfly" (1982, TEI, $29.98) doesn't fail to satisfy. Pia plays a backwoods cupcake who flirts with Stacy Keach, who turns out to be her long-lost dad. They wind up in court before a judge, hilariously embodied by Orson Welles.

Jacqueline Susann is as dependable a name as Zadora in the turkey department, and the nutty "The Love Machine" (1971, RCA/Columbia, $29.95) will have to do until "Valley of the Dolls" (1967) comes out on video. Does the title refer to television, which this lawdramatic "exposes," or to the mannequin-like John Philip Law as the ruthless anchorman who romances models and executive's wives on his climb to the top? Robert Ryan, Dyan Cannon, and David Hemmings portray the usual lineup of show-biz clichés with relish.

"Logan's Run" (1976, MGM/UA, $39.98) is a sci-fi epic that came out the year before "Star Wars" and only serves as an illustration of how much George Lucas revitalized the genre. It's set in a fascist and hedonistic future where people are exterminated after reaching the age of 30. Michael York stars as an anxious 29-year-old and other cast members include Peter Ustinov and Farrah Fawcett (then Fawcett-Majors). To show how cold and impersonal the future will be, the movie makers used a Dallas shopping mall as a set. One of the designers of the 1982 futuristic sci-fi flick "Blade Runner" said they used "Logan's Run" as an example of a fakey-looking future they wanted to avoid.

The "don't-trust-anyone-over-30" plot was originally used more wittily (and less expensively) in the AIP drive-in classic "Wild in the Streets" (1968, Thorn/EMI, $19.95) about a rock star (Christopher Jones) who is elected president after the voting age is lowered to 14. Shelley Long plays the first mama.

Best Bet

"NFL Expose" (1991, NFL Films Video/Media Home Entertainment, $19.98, 800-NFL-TAPE). A lighthearted, irreverent look at the football game, with coaches discussing their wardrobe choices on the playing field and tackles explaining their hefty off-field diets. Slang terms used by members of the Cincinnati Bengals are explained, such as "Hound-2-Rodney" and "back-naked." A section on players' hairdos includes Frank Gifford's early '60s Vitale commercial with the immortal reference to "greasy kid stuff."

Add visit to Cahokia Mounds on Christmas shopping list

A holiday visit to Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site will provide visitors a unique opportunity to learn about the amazing prehistoric Indian city, which once dominated this region.

The Interpretive Center is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., including weekends, but will be closed Christmas and New Year's days. An award-winning orientation show, many fascinating exhibits and self-guiding outside tours of the site are available.

Special holiday gifts can be found in the Museum Shop, which features an extensive selection of books on Indians and archaeology, Native American jewelry, ceramics, beadwork, crafts, posters, cards, T-shirts and children's items.

For those interested in Native American astronomy, there will be an observance of the Winter Solstice Sunrise at the reconstructed Woodhenge on Sunday, Dec. 22, at 7 a.m. Woodhenge is one-half mile west of Monks Mound. Visitors should arrive early to park and hear how Woodhenge was discovered and how it works, and watch the sun rise in line with the solstice post as it did 1,000 years ago.

A new 10K (6.2 mile) Volks-marathon trail has been established at Cahokia Mounds, and will have its grand opening Saturday, Jan. 4, at 9:30 p.m. Sponsored by the Illinois Trekkers Volks-marathon Club of Belleville, the Volks-marathon may be used year-round between 9 a.m. and 4:45 p.m. free of charge by all ages.
